Taxpayers' Puzzle: Lower Enrollment--And Higher School Budget

Compared to other suburban communities, Princeton usually coasts along nicely where school budgets are concerned. Voters here haven't rejected a school budget for five years (but when they do, watch out! In 1968, the budget was defeated twice, and finally had to be hammered out by municipal and school officials working together.)

Anyhow, public hearing on the new budget will be next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium at Princeton High. Last year, hardly anybody turned out. But this year, there may be rapids ahead.

The proposed 1973-74 budget is $7,942,700. That's $101,800 more than a year ago, for an increase of about 1.3%. The amount to be raised by taxes is $6,570,000 — $578,000, or 9.7% more than '72.

The question people have been asking, is "Why is the budget up when the enrollment is going down?"

Next year, about 260 high school students will leave Princeton High for the new West Windsor-Plainsboro high school. That's about half, the remaining 200-250 West Windsor-Plainsboro students will be phased out after next year.

Meanwhile, Princeton's own enrollment will continue to decrease. Projections show a drop of about 170, giving Princeton a school population of about 3,505, down from 3,675.

Finance people in the schools, like Winthrop Pike, who is school board member in charge of budgets, and William Evans, the board secretary, point out something they've been warning Princeton about for years. West Windsor pupils leave, yes, but they take all that tuition money with them.

The departure of the first contingent of 260 means a dollar loss of about $349,000 to the Princeton schools.

Also, salaries will continue to go up, and so will prices. Princeton's schools pay out about $6 million in salaries. The 5.5% Federal guideline for wage increases comes to about $400,000 for Princeton's schools.

School systems have something the system calls "increment" and the Federal government calls "longevity." It means that as a teacher moves up the ladder, with another year of experience behind him, he automatically moves to a higher level on the salary scale. So he gets "longevity," in addition to his 5.5% increase.

The Princeton school budget shows a $58,000 salary drop for teachers. About 40 teachers will be dropped from the staff. Reductions in staff pull the salary category down, but salary increases push it up, and the result is a balanced $58,000 increase.

On the administration side, is a $900 salary increase. Raises for administrators have been included, but since several administrative positions have been eliminated, the salary-increase figure is very low.

It is an uncertain year for all New Jersey school districts. The Supreme Court was scheduled to start hearings this Tuesday on the ruling by Judge Theodore I. Botter, who declared early in 1972 that it's unconstitutional to support a school system by local property taxes. The state has taken the question to the Supreme Court.

Until some decision is made, school districts don't know where they stand. Mr. Pike points out that Princeton could lose more than $300,000 in state aid under a decision re-apportioning funds.

Princeton's school board decided not to appropriate $200,000 in reserve funds so that amount must be included in the total to be raised by taxes.

At Tuesday's public hearing, the board will give a report explaining the reserve fund situation. At the end of the budget year, there will indeed be a reserve—an estimated $100,000, which experts feel is a reasonable amount for a district of Princeton's size. But this is money that will be left over—it's not available in the budget.

Householders have received from the board of education an explanatory booklet on the budget, complete with line items. (The brochure, including mailing, cost

Council Hears Merchants' Parking Problems

Parking meters, garbage, housing inspections, the nasty jolt of a $9,000 tax refund—the ordinary housekeeping of running a town occupied Borough Council Tuesday at its first regular meeting of the year.

An informal survey by Councilman Martin P. Lombardo turned up the fact that most merchants—in the Witherspoon-Spring area, anyway—don't like long-term 10-hour meters. They are alarmed at the idea of removing 14 two-hour meters from the Witherspoon lot, for example, and replacing them with the ten hour variety.

They also have a dark suspicion that Borough police are harassing customers by pouncing on expired meters. Some merchants, in fact, have such a dark view of the parking situation that they told Mr. Lombardo they may be able to stay here only another year or two.

Councilman Thomas Cawley, head of Council's Parking Committee (which Mr. Lombardo doesn't happen to be on), declared the Borough must build parking garages "as rapidly as possible." He said Council would welcome the advice and opinions of Princeton's merchants. It would particularly welcome their financial contributions to any parking solution, he added.

Several merchants spoke feelingly about parking. Robert Nelson, of Nelson's Glass on Spring Street, said he'd like to see more of those 10 hour meters; he can't get people to work for him because there is no place to park, he said.

Yvonne Aronson, of the King's Court Restaurant, urged police, merchant and Council co-operation: "work together to solve this dreadful problem!" she pleaded, "you won't solve it by re-shuffling meters."

She told Council that, in her business, it was impractical for a chef to leave in the middle of a steak to go out an plug his meter.

Bill Toto, of Gale Cleaners-Bill's Men's Shop on the Spring Witherspoon corner, declared that Borough police had been ordered not to give tickets to meter-feeders in the Spring Street lot. Nobody on Council denied this.

The Collector. After Robert Powell, Council newcomer had asked a series of questions about awarding the garage bid, and Council had banged the garbage question around for about half an hour, the contract with Princeton Disposal, the present collector, was finally passed for renewal.

Councilman Joseph P. Moore, who said, "let's pass the contract," suggested that the contractor be called in to talk about things like damaged cans, re-cycling problems and the like. Mr. Lombardo voted "no" because only one contractor bid for the job.

The $55,500 bid ($60 more than the present contract) provides for two garbage collections and one re-cycling collection each week, as now. It adds a kind of Christmas present, on the six days in the year when a holiday comes on the regular garbage-collection day, the collection will be made the day after.

Mr. Powell didn't like the idea of only one bidder, either. He also pointed out that re-cycling in the Township is free of charge to anybody.

But he protested chiefly that the contract, already prepared and ready for Council to act on, was something newcomers like himself hadn't had a chance to consider. It should be part of the budget process, he urged, not a contract with a February 1 deadline which must be voted on in a hurry.

Department Inspection. Council introduced an ordinance shifting rental inspections from the engineering to the health department. If it had been left with engineering, another employee would have been required. David Blake, health officer, says he won't need anyone extra.

Council introduced the ordinance amending the official map. It hangs, with its 29 changes, in the engineer's office where anyone can go and see it.

An ordinance, recommended by the Traffic Safety Committee, was introduced prohibiting parking on the east side of Library between Stockton and Hodge, and on both sides of the stub of Maple off Spruce Street.

Council passed, but not happily, a measure approving a $9,581.60 tax refund to the University's Tower Club. The club, which has study areas, apparently qualifies as an area used for educational purposes. ("I find that hard to believe," commented Councilman Arthur P. Morgan) and the county has approved the refund.

More ordinances. The national fire code was adopted by ordinance. It includes special provisions for storage of gasoline at tanks, a problem which has plagued the Borough for many years.

Council also acted, as Township Committee had the night before, to participate in joint purchasing with Mercer County. Administrator Robert F. Mooney said the Borough has a ready saved 2 cents a gallon on gasoline as a result of cooperation with the county. All ordinances will be up for public hearing February 13.

The University will ask next month for a club liquor license for the Council of the Princeton University Community, which will hold forth in a portion of the Chancellor Green Student Center. Only beer and wine, on premises, will be consumed, assured Thomas Wright, for the University.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley announced that he's been named to the state's County and Municipal Government Commission, and he said he would welcome ideas from Princeton residents about subjects the Commission might consider.

PROTEST IS PLANNED

At President's Inauguration. Buses for the Inauguration Day Peace Demonstration in Washington, D.C. on Saturday, January 20 are being chartered by the Fund for Peace Education, 1rd Nassau Street.

According to a spokesman at the Peace Center, a silent march against death and a peaceful demonstration on the day of President Nixon's sec-

School Budget

about $1,000.

Accounting Rules Cited. Studying its figures, taxpayers have been raising questions. According to Mr. Evans, some of the questions can be answered by turning to New Jersey's accounting rules for school districts.

For example, there is a startling decline of $35,400 in the amount budgeted for equipment under the "Capital Outday" section. An equally startling increase of $61,500 for buying equipment appears under the "Maintenance" section.

State regulations requiring the book keeping shift came through too late to be reflected in the budget brochure, Mr. Evans says, adding that the switch doesn't affect the total budget.

The "other expenses" category in the instruction section also caught the watchful taxpayers' it's up by $3910. Ordinarily, there would have been a drop in this category, but the budget includes $41,000 for preliminary planning connected with Princeton High. The question of remodeling the present old building or constructing a new one, requires engineering and architectural studies that cost money.

The homeowner who looks at the last page in the brochure can find out what it all means to his tax bill. The owner of a $30,000 Borough house will pay $23 more; $22 more in the Township. The owner of a $40,00 house will pay $31 more (Borough) or $29 more (Township).

The estimated school tax rate, per $100 of assessed valuation, is $1.881 for the Borough, $1.759 for the Township.

Voting on the budget will be Tuesday, February 6, at the same time as voting for school board members.

and inauguration will speak to the deep concern shared by thousands of Americans who deplore this country's negotiation by terror and the President's disregard for Congress when he ordered the intensification of bombing in Vietnam.

Plans for the protest are being coordinated nationally by the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice and by the National Peace Action Coalition, both of New York City.

Buses from Princeton will leave from the Princeton Railroad Station early Saturday morning, January 20, and will return late that afternoon. Definite times will be announced shortly.

Roundtrip tickets are $6.50 and must be purchased by noon on Wednesday, January 17. They are available at the Fund for Peace Education.

CHOIR MEMBERS READY

To Earn Funds for Trip. Homeowners and shopowners in Princeton are reminded of the availability of members of the High School "Odd Job Committee".

The 84 members of the Choir are available to shovel snow, clean attics and garages, clean houses, baby sit, wash cars, paint houses, cater and-or run parties. Other services are also available on request, in exchange for a tax deductible donation to the Choir Fund For Vienna.

Arrangements for a work force, or individual help can be made by telephoning 924-5600, extension 205, between 10 and noon.

The Choir has already earned over $500 and through bake sales and the sale of food at basketball games. In addition, it sang Christmas Carols at the First National Bank during the week before Christmas. The Bank had promised a donation of $750 and instead raised its contribution to $1,000.

Parents Committees have been formed to obtain contributions from the community, and a kick-off dinner dance is planned for late January. Direct contributions pledged by the parents of the choir members have exceeded the 50 percent of the required $60,000 previously anticipated.

The Princeton Choir is the only New Jersey group invited to the Festival, which will take place in Vienna in July and it will also sing in Budapest and Prague during the trip.

HOPEWELL TO TRY AGAIN

With Third Bond Issue. Residents in the Hopewell Valley Regional School district, who have defeated multi-million dollar school expansion proposals twice in the past two years, will be asked to vote on a considerably smaller bond issue sometime this spring.

A $965,000 addition to the high school, which would provide a new library, guidance offices, industrial arts facilities and other improvements has been proposed by the district's school board.

Voters defeated a $6.9 million bond issue in March, 1971, and $5.1 million seven months later, which would have enlarged both the high school and Timberland Junior School.

Mrs. Doris Hoyer, school board president, commented that during the last six years, the school board has amassed a $300,000 surplus fund. She said the board hopes to appropriate all or part this to defray the proposed construction costs.

With a current enrollment of 1,162 pupils, the high school is overcrowded by 200 pupils.

Flood-Torn Wilkes-Barre Tops Its Fund Goal

But $104,000 Is Needed to Meet Quota Here

"The importance of the Red Cross and United Fund Agencies was dramatically underscored recently when flood - devastated Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, oversubscribed its United Community Fund goal for 1973! Progress toward our own United Fund - Red Cross goal of $609,000 gives strong evidence that citizens in the Princeton area also support their community organizations — fortunately, without first having to endure a tragic disaster," said Dr. Richard J. Magee, President of the Princeton Fund.

James T. Robson, General Campaign Chairman, this week reported that $505,104 is in hand, as this year's fund - raising campaign moves into its final month. Activity in all divisions is making a concerted effort to produce the additional $104,000 needed. Specifically, the Research and Industrial Division, headed by Maurice J. Duggan, which has already raised $226,613, is seeking an additional $28,387 to reach its goal of $255,000. The Special Gifts Division, headed by Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth, Mrs. Robert F. Goheen and John Hoff, has already raised an amount equivalent to the total achieved by the end of the campaign last year, but is seeking an additional $24,000 toward its goal of $180,000.

Combining the remaining divisions, $122,480 has been raised, with an additional $51,520 being sought in the final month of January from all those who have not yet given. Area vice-presidents are: Cranbury, East Windsor, Hightstown: Dr Albert Keer; Franklin Township, South Brunswick, Kingston: Leslie J. Luck, Jr.; Hopewell: William H. Boozer, Jr.; Montgomery and Rocky Hill: Albert W. Lutz; West Windsor: Michael Gresehak. Also helping with the final stages of the 1973 Drive in other divisions are: Mercantile — Alan Frank; Shopping Center — Peter B'aicher; Management Planning and Data Processing — John Zimmerman; Education — Paul Chesebro, Saul Cooperman, William Lawder and Michael Mahoney.

The United Fund - Red Cross Campaign combines into one annual drive the appeals of many agencies whose work and importance in the community are significant. Contributions may be sent to the Princeton United Fund, P O. Box 201 Princeton.

SLATE IS SET

For School Board. The lines are now pruned and straight. Superfluous candidates who might have spoiled things have been snipped away and Princeton voters have before them the cleanest schoolboard slate in several years.

Candidates always say they hate labels. But in both Borough and Township the divisions seem clear between pro-and-anti-school forces. In some cases this division is made sharper by endorsement, as yet not made public, by the anti-administration Parents of Princeton Children.

By last Friday's 4 p.m. withdrawal deadline, three of the five Township candidates had dropped leaving, in order of their appearance on the February 6 ballot, Fred Bauer and Gail Pietrinferno. Bauer is regarded as "pro," Mrs. Pietrinferno as "anti."

They will contest for the single seat that is available for the Township this year, the one held by Robert Bierman. He decided not to run again.

Those who withdrew are Melvin A. Benarde, A. M. Carnevale and Allen W. Hartley.

In the Borough, four candidates seek the two seats to be seated by Evelyn Geddes and Henry Powsner. In order of their ballot appearance, they are Andrew Shelpuk, Hawley C. Waterman Jr., Joan Doig and Judith Getis.

It is understood that Mrs. Doig and Mrs. Getis are generally pro-administration, and Dr. Shelpuk and Mr Waterman, anti-administration.

Dr. Benarde said in a formal statement this week that he withdrew in favor of Mrs. Pietrinferno because " we shared ideas and approaches in common." He said he believed that because she is not employed, she will be able to devote a great deal of time to school board affairs. He urged those who might have supported him to support her.

HOUSING OK"

Freeze May Not Apply. New public housing in the Township probably won't be affected by the Federal freeze on subsidies for low and middle income housing.

The freeze was announced Monday by George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Karin Slaby, executive director of the Princeton Housing Authority, said a HUD official in Camden assured her Tuesday that the Township's project is far enough along on its route through the Federal labyrinth not to be affected.

The 100-unit project is planned for a 14.5 acre plot in the Ewing-Mt. Lucas-State Road area. It was granted a use variance by the Township oning Board. Township Committee must approve or disapprove the zoning board's action and has scheduled a special public meeting for next Monday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall to hear the question.

Mrs. Slaby pointed out that the project was granted approval for its preliminary loan contract last February, and also has had its developer — Benedict Yedlin — accepted and approved. These, according to HUD spokesmen, assure continuance of the project in spite of the freeze.

SKATING RESTRICTED

On Lake, "See-borne activity" — that's legalese for skating, ice boating, hockey or just sliding around — will be legally confined on Lake Carnegie to the area between the Washington and Harrison bridges under an ordinance introduced Monday night by Township Committee.

The University, which owns the Lake, asked Committee for the ordinance. Sturdy legal underpinning officials say, will make it easier for the University and the Township police, as well, to enforce any rules. Public hearing will be Monday, January 22.

Committee introduced an ordinance allowing the Township to contract with Mercer County for the joint purchase of supplies or services. Under the arrangement, the county bids and the Township buys if it wants to. The new arrangement would not be binding, if Township officials got a lower bid than the county.

A $4,000 supplement for completing the work on Alexander Road, was introduced. The original $40,400 appropriation was short of the bid. The $4,000 figure includes contingency money, which is not provided by the state's road grant.

Leland Merrill, 40 Gulick Road, was appointed to the Environmental Commission for a three year term. Dr. Merrill is director of the Institute for Environmental Studies at Rutgers. Gerald Breese was named Planning Board member assigned to the Environmental Commission.

YES, BUT . . .

For Cluster Development

The Regional Planning Board last week gave conditional approval to a cluster development of houses on the 94 acre tract in the Stuart Cherry Hill area.

But the developers may go back to the board February 6 to see whether these conditions can't be altered.

The board has asked that about 15 acres in the north west corner of the plot be donated for public, open - space ownership. Walkways, open to the public, would be provided to the rest of the acreage, which is the privately owned part. Walking easements, however, would not be on private by owned lots.

Also, the board thinks a storm water retention system may be needed. The developers would be responsible for installing such a system and paying for the engineering studies that would be involved.

MEETING TUESDAY

Of Recreation Board. The Joint Recreation Board will hold its January meeting Tuesday evening at 8:15 in Township Hall.

Executive director R. Dan Axtell Barr reported that there will be a full budget report for 1972 and election of board officers for the new year. New board members will be assigned areas of responsibilities.

Perhaps, said Mr. Barr as he glanced at the somewhat open agenda, "the board will have time to discuss some issues it hasn't been able to discuss for some time."

WHICH SCHOOL?

Re-assignments Discussed. About 200 parents told the school board — not always in tranquil tones — what they thought about the re-districting announced last week.

After Wednesday night's meeting, the board pondered the comments, and announced on Friday that it was considering some changes as a result of parents' remarks.

Actually, the meeting was good-humored. Parents understood fully the somewhat complex new boundary lines drawn for the four elementary schools and made comments chiefly based on evaluations of safety.

Meetings are scheduled for this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the four elementary schools: Johnson Park, Littlebrook, Riverside and Community Park, which will become an elementary school next fall.

Changes under consideration by the board:

- Mountain Avenue, Westerly, Purloe and Wilson Roads, Driffield Place and Morgan Place, originally assigned to Community Park, would go to Johnson Park. Parents believe the walk to Community hazardous.
- Mt. Lucas and Laurel Roads and the Laurel Circle area, would go to Community Park, instead of to Johnson. They would have been bused to Johnson, but can walk to Community.
- Birch Avenue, plus Witherspoon Street from house number 282, would continue to go to Littlebrook, instead of Com-

All that cold air of the past few days would have been a lot harder to take if the humidity had not been unusually low. Thermometers in outlying areas hit single figures.

A milder trend began Wednesday, with the first reading above freezing since Saturday agreeable to all but those with an eye on the Lake. Now, the Man reports, clouds will gather and a snow-watch will begin late Friday.

•Witherspoon up to house number 282, Clay, Lytle, Maclean, Quarry, Green and Hulfish would attend Community Park instead of Littlebrook. Those children now attend John Witherspoon. Many parents said they preferred Community because it is close.

•The two families on Lovers Lane with children in the schools would be assigned to Johnson Park instead of Community.

POLICE ON THE MOVE

Answer 13 Calls for Aid. "It was," observed Chief Michael Carnevale, as he flipped through the police docket, "one of those weeks not very newsworthy but one in which police responded to 13 different individuals in need of first aid." Calls for aid, he said, ran the gamut from broken hip to bad back to epiletic seizure.

Police also rendered aid for a person with a mental disturbance, a child with convulsions, an injured girl at Princeton High School and to several elderly people in distress. "It was one of those weeks which typifies the type of service rendered to citizens that never makes the newspapers," the chief added.

Also during last week's activities, Borough police investigated petty larcenies, stolen wallets, attempted breaking and enterings and a 19-year-old drunken driver.

Camera, Typewriter Stolen. Chief Carnevale reported the entering of a room Sunday at North Hall, 100 Stockton Street, on the Princeton Theological Seminary campus.

A door to a study room in the basement was forced open, he reported. Taken was a typewriter valued at $150 owned by Hugh MacKenzie and a 35mm camera and two lenses valued at $500 owned by Daniel Roberts. Both the victims were students.

Vandalism, Too. Chief Carnevale also reported vandalism last week at the construction site of Queenston Common, the condominium being erected at North Harrison and Hamilton Avenue.

Three 4-by-8 foot Thermopane windows were reported broken by a foreman for the Sandean Construction Co. "We have no estimate of the damage but it has to cost a lot of money," said Chief Carnevale. He added that the site has been the focal point for a considerable amount of vandalism — most of it directed in the past toward bulldozers and similiar equipment.

. . .TO SUPREME COURT

With OK Bar Case. The Borough has decided to go all the way to the State Supreme Court with the OK Bar. Mayor Robert W. Crowley said this week that the Borough will know in about a month whether the Court will hear the case.

Last February, Mercer County Judge Frank J. Kingfield declared invalid the section of the Borough zoning ordinance that says when a non-conforming use for a building has been discontinued for a year, the building must go back to its former use. The OK, a non-conforming use, owned by Mrs. Teresa Nini, had been closed.

Judge Kingfield said the section was invalid because it is more restrictive than state law. Borough officials hope the Supreme Court will decide the state law itself needs revision.

Neighbors of the OK, on Lytle Street, urged the Borough to go all the way to the Supreme Court. "We always knew we'd have to go this far," the mayor said.

for 30 days last week in Township court for reckless driving.

Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr., presiding over his first Township traffic court, ordered the suspension to run consecutively with a present license suspension of Mr. Cupples. According to the summons, he tried to strike the son of the complainant on three occasions with his car.

Paul Esposito, 23, 9 Harris Road, was fined $210 for driving while on a revoked list. Lourd Nathan, 32 Witherspoon Lane, paid $35 for leaving the scene of an accident, while John Rossi, 22, 285 Snowden Lane and Abelino T. Ajsivinac, 27, 126 John Street, and Susan A. Mott, 39, 15 Maple Avenue, Lawrenceville, each paid $15 for careless driving.

Joan E. Hall, 41, Bear Brook Road, was fined $15 for failing to yield.

Borough Court. Mr. Cupples faced more charges Monday in Borough Court.

He was fined $10 on two separate charges of driving an unsafe vehicle, $205 for driving while his license was suspended, and $15 for a late inspection violation. In addition, Judge Tams placed him on six months probation.

Franco Mennella, 17, 33 Harris Road, paid three fines: $15 for a noisy muffler, $15 for an unregistered car and 10 for late inspection. Also fined $10 each for overdue inspection were John W. Heseltine, 21, 739 Prospect Avenue, and David A. McLeod, 21, 70 Jefferson Road.

Speeding cost Donald C. Brooks, 19, Province Line Road, $40. Raymond V. Dybo, 52, of Pennington was fined $15 for failure to yield to a pedestrian and another $16 for a red light violation.

Three paid fines of $15 each for careless driving: Yasuhiro Takeda, 32, 12 Craven Lane, Lawrenceville; Jon C. Wagner, 20, 12 E. Prospect, Hopewell; and Domenico Armenti, 24, 35 Pine Street. Mr. Armenti's license was also revoked for 30 days.

HITS FOUR PARKED CARS. Ticketed for Careless Driving. A Princeton woman on her way to meet her husband's train in Princeton Junction Thursday failed to make connection when she struck four parked cars on the way.

Mrs. Mildred G. Swensson, 66, 130 Randall Road, was ticketed for careless driving by Sgt. John J. Bellow. She was treated at Princeton Medical Center for fractures to five toes in her foot.

Mrs. Swensson told police that as her car came up a hill on Leavitt Lane near Fisher Avenue, it would not steer nor was she able to straighten it out. It first struck the left rear fender of a station wagon owned by Ugo Rossi, 42 Henry Avenue. Her car then swerved to the left across Leavitt Lane and rammed the left front of a pickup owned by Camillo Pirone, 16 Leavitt Lane.

The impact forced the truck to jump the curb and come to rest in the driveway at 16 Leavitt, where it struck the left side of a sedan owned by Selvatore Pirone, 37 Harris Road that had been parked in the driveway. The latter was pushed into another station wagon parked in front of it causing minor damage to the rear bumper. The wagon is also owned by Camillo Pirone.

The multiple mishap occurred a few minutes before 6 p.m. Mrs. Swensson's car, its front end heavily damaged, had to be towed away.

POLICE TO ADD ITEMS

To Basketball Program. The basketball program sponsored every Monday and Thursday night from 7 to 9:30 at the Community Park School by Borough police as a way to expand its appeal.

Chief Michael C. Finnerty reported that after the athletic phase of the evening, police plan to start showing films of interest to youth. "We will try to get films of Bill Bradley and Brian Taylor, and also show films concerning drugs and police activities," he said.

The program director is Det. Thomas Michaud, former basketball standout at Notre Dame High School.

Frelinghuysen Available Saturday

Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, Princeton's Congressman, has announced that he will be in his Somerville office this Saturday from 10 a.m. on, to talk with constituents.

Peace group spokesmen, planning to talk with the Congressman, say they hope he has altered his strong support for President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

Those who wish to talk with Rep. Frelinghuysen Saturday are asked to call 201-526-2667 and make an appointment through his secretary, Mrs. Ten Eyck. The office is in the Post Office building, Division Street.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley — like Mr. Frelinghuysen, a Republican — said this week that he plans to call the Congressman Saturday and expects Borough Councilmen to join him. A full day of municipal budget work precludes a trip to Somerville, the mayor explained.

"We will ask him to change his mind on Vietnam," said Mayor Cawley, "and to vote in favor of various measures related to ending the Vietnam war. I hope the nature of the recent bombing may have caused him to re-think his position."

Mayor Cawley traveled to Washington last year with an end-the-war petition from Princeton residents. He talked briefly with Rep. Frelinghuysen and later wrote him a long letter explaining his opposition to the war.

Town Answers Appeal with 2½ Tons of Food

Last week's blitz appeal for food for Managua gleaned 5,200 lbs., or more than 2 1-2 tons, from the shelves of Princeton and environs.

"Everyone was fantastic.." breathes Mrs. Armando Morales of Skillman, who touched it all off. A parallel campaign led by her friend, Mrs. Barry Snyder of Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, Spring Street, yielded an almost identical amount from residents of Bucks County, Pa. "There's no one like Arlene—60 double cartons were trucked to New York with the commissioner of the Bucks County Police at the wheel.."

The five tons of food were taken to New York at the close of the high-speed, two-day campaigns and shipped by air and sea to Nicaragua on Friday.

Distribution point is Masaya ,about 25 miles southeast of Managua, where 37,000 evacuees from quake-destroyed Managua have been taken. Mr. Morales, a Nicaraguan artist whose immediate family has survived the Christmas-time holocaust in Managua, has already heard from Oxfam (Oxford Committee for Famine Relief) which has there professionals from England heading a team of 20 volunteers in Masya. Oxfam, he says, is settling into a long-term effort, starting with pure relief jobs, evolving into medium term rehabilitation and ultimately into long-term reconstruction.

A Reason for Giving. "There were some quite extraordinary contributors to this," Mrs. Morales said. "Mr. Bahadurian came in with four or five cases of food; Mr. and Mrs. Ervy Boothe from Princeton Church of Christ came in with a huge contribution from the church.

How to Aid Managua

Donors of funds for relief in Managua are referred by Mrs. Rosemary Morales to the Nicaaguan Relief Committee, in care of the Center for Inter-American Relations, 680 Park Avenue, New York; to the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross; or Oxfam, 1028 Connecticut Ave, NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

There's also a raffle at the Center of Inter-American Relations for the five paintings that her husband, Armando Morales, has donated to raise funds. His work is in the major museums of this country, including Princeton University Museum.

A $10 ticket offers a chance at a $2,000 painting. Available at Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, Spring Street.

"A very nice young girl with a small child on her back brought in several bags. She and her husband had lived in Guatamala. Another young girl who'd been in a slight quake in Chile came in...Most people who brought things had a reason to come, like Mrs. John Hodges of Belle Mead—her husband had worked in Nicaragua for a while.

"An elderly priest from what I am sure was a very poor neighborhood in Trenton brought in an amazing $200 in creased and worn bills, plus eight bags of food. I am sure that represented quite a sacrifice in his parish.

"Don Coppinger from Belle Mead was fantastic. He just walked in and said, 'I'm at your service.' I sent him everywhere. He picked up a box of medical supplies from a donor in Trenton, a Dominick Calu on Third Street.

"Bohren's donated a truck and Mr. Coppinger went to see the number of cartons being packed at Stuart, Princeton Day School and Chapin and then he went and picked out the truck. He helped pack, helped load the truck and went to New York with it—Mr. Froelich of Bohren's drove it—and they were met by a representative of Mayor Lindsay...

"Mrs. Marvin Friedman, whose husband is a commercial artist, put up notices all over Hopewell and people left food on her front porch. A neighborhood grocer Paul Erlich, in Hopewell gave her a 100-lb. sack of rice and some cartons of food. And I must call her and ask her for his address, because I am trying to write everybody I can."

PDS a Great Help. "Princeton Day School was just unbelievable. Mrs. Joan Baker organized the drive overnight. She sent the students home with the fliers Princeton Photo Process donated to us. The next day, they must have packed 40, at least 40 boxes with canned foods.

"Thirty volunteers helped pack contributions from parents. The faculty contributed money and we bought miles of tape with it to seal the boxes. I arrived there with my youngest child and three older girls just whisked her away and cared for her while I worked. The school has a really marvelous spirit.

"And at Chapin, where the children are younger, we received 10 boxes of foods. There again, the spirit was fantastic. And at Stuart School, where Mother Wheeler so gen-

News Of The THEATRES

"THE BEGUILED"

At McCarter. One part gothic horror story, one part black comedy and one part romance — that's the recipe for "The Beguiled," next on the screen at McCarter in the Movie at McCarter series. "The Beguiled" will be shown next Wednesday, January 17 at 8 p.m.

Don Siegel, the director, has Clint Eastwood as a wounded Union soldier who is taken in by seven nice ladies from a Southern seminary, led by Geraldine Page. The ladies proceed to act in a way which one critic observed are "mad for the squeamish world ghoulish and bizarre."

Siegel is the 60 year old Hollywood director who has just been "discovered," and is now something of a cult figure. He usually directs action films (Dirty Harry).

FONDA FESTIVAL

And Pot. "Reefer Madness," a melodramatic film from the '30s which frowns sternly at the wickedness of indulging in marijuana (hanging is the only thing for youths "who go astray under the influence of this terrible weed"), will be given two showings (7 and 9 p.m.) this Saturday at McCarter. Tickets will go on sale starting at 10 a.m., and will also be available at the door.

With "Reefer Madness" will be "Martian Space Party," a short that features the Firesign Theatre, a contemporary comedy group.

The Fonda Festival is June in the two hits that made her a star. "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" will be shown at 7 p.m. and "Klute" at 9:30 p.m. this Friday. Tickets will go on sale starting at 10 a.m. and will also be available at the door.

"Horses" is laid in the depression of the '30s, when the only road to fame and fortune was via the marathon dance contest. "Klute" is about the New York call girl terrorized by a psychopath intent on killing her. Donald Sutherland plays Klute, the small town detective who leads the hunt for the killer.

OPENING NIGHT . . .

For "Black Comedy". The farce called "Black Comedy" will open this Friday under the direction of Princeton Community Players in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church. Curtain time is 8:30.

The comedy will play again this Saturday, and next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The performance on Sunday, January 14, has been sold to the Unitarian Church.

Leading roles will be played by Liz Fiske, who portrayed the mother in "Ring Round the Moon" for Community Players last year. She was in the P.J. & B. Fiddler on the Roof and has just been cast in the forthcoming P.J. & B. Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris. Norm Friedman will appear as the Colonel in "Black Comedy," having performed with the P.J. & B. "Oklahoma!" and the Players' Inn Show.

WANT TO AUDITION?

For "Hay Fever," Noel Coward's play which will be the next production for Theatre Intime and which is directed by Murray Tabeek, next Monday and Tuesday, between 7 and 10 p.m.

Callbacks auditions will be next Wednesday and Thursday, January 17 and 18. The play will be given April 24, 25 and 26, and May 1, 2 and 3.

Sally Burpee, who directed "Happy Birthday, Wanda June" and "The Homecoming" for Summer Intime, and "Endgame" for Theatre Intime, will be the director here, also.

Everyone who auditions should prepare a three-to-five minute piece. Assigned times for auditions may be arranged by calling 882-8181, or signing up in the lobby of Murray Theatre.

Film Booker's Wail: 16 Weeks of "Godfather"?

If Princeton's movie houses played only the critics' choices, would the public go along? Or, if a theatre accepted the tough booking terms for "The Godfather," would the public agree to having the film here for four solid months? And why are some films so long in reaching Princeton?

The movie exhibitor's squeezed situation was discussed on Friday by Richard W. Knight, manager of the Playhouse and Garden theatres since the days when the marquees were changed two and three times a week. And that's quite a while.

"Sometimes a critical success isn't a financial success," he said from his desk at the Playhouse. "Often when a critic selects a film for his Ten Best list, he's basing his judgment on the photography, or the directing, or the acting or the writing — yet the film doesn't entertain the public.

"When it isn't a financial success, we would be inclined to skip it or bring it in later for a week when the Garden and the McCarter are cooperating."

Win And Lose. Turning to the booking situation, he explains that the two Princeton movie houses were switched from the New York to the Philadelphia area several years ago, meaning that a film can't be shown here until after it has opened in Philadelphia. It's an arrangement the film companies have made. "Philadelphia is more often behind New York than ahead," Mr. Knight commented somberly. "But sometimes it's an advantage to wait a little while for the publicity to sink in.

"Some films are given exclusive runs. "Two English Girls," listed by Canby as one of his Ten Best, isn't available to us because it's on exclusive runs in New Haven and in New York City. On the other hand, "Cries and Whispers," the Ingmar Bergman film on his list, will be here near the end of this month. . ."

"I think that 1972 was a better year for us than 1971, but there's more competition in booking, forcing theatres to bid against each other, with the one offering the most money and the longest playing time getting the exclusive."

He continued, turning the looseleaf pages of his records notebook, "Princeton is starting to bid on films, but usually if they want too long a playing date or too much money, we'll pass it by and wait until the next round.

Audience Appeal. "Fiddler on the Roof," for instance, we could have had sooner, but we would have had to play it longer than we felt Princeton would support it. I think we had to guarantee six weeks. As it was, we finally got it for three weeks.

"Cabaret" toured mainly the large cities as a road show before it was released to the area theatres. "The Godfather" initially required a 16 week booking. It was "The French Connection" leads the 1972 list of films that made the most joyful noise at the box office in Princeton. An estimated 25,000 people attended during the five successive weeks it played the 1,200-seat Playhouse.

Second on the list was "Cabaret" with Liza Minelli, which was held over for four weeks. "Fiddler on the Roof" and "What's Up Doc?" are third and fourth, followed by "Dirty Harry" with Clint Eastwood; "The Hospital;" the reissue, "Fantasia;" "The Garden of the Finzi Continis," X-rated "Fritz the Cat" and "Clockwork Orange."

News Of The Theatres

here eight or ten months later and we kept it for the second week because we had to keep it that long. Nearly everybody had seen it elsewhere. It played Trenton for 16 weeks!"

"Hitchcock's "Frenzy" — which is on the Canby list for 1972, was here from September 6 to 12, and we had a fair response, but it had already played the Prince, and we just brought it here to fill in. On the other hand, "The French Connection" was here for five weeks and was our most successful film of the year.

Most of the major films come here, eventually, Mr. Knight claims, and sometimes return as part of a double feature. "M*A*S*H" and "The French Connection" were paired successfully. Some times in order to get a hot film, exhibitors have to agree to book an oldie that has been taken out of the can for another round of the theatres.

Princeton prices, $2 or less including 5 percent tax, compare favorably with Broadway's $3.50; and the senior citizens are taking advantage here of the $1 admission at weekday matinees. Mondays through Fridays at the Playhouse and Wednesdays at the Garden.

But, balancing costs, audience appeal and tough bidding practices, the two Princeton theatres have had quite a year.

"IPCRESS"

At Murray Theatre. "The Ipcress File," once described as "the first intelligent spy movie," will be shown this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Murray Theatre as the first in Theatre Intime's Spring Films.

Michael Caine stars as the reluctant secret agent in this adaptation of the Len Deighton thriller. The Newsweek review spoke of Ipcress" that is a thinking man's 'Gold finger.' Funnier by far than any of the Bond films, and more rewarding, too."

FOLK-ROCK

Brubeck and Others. How Dave Brubeck feels about being listed in the folk-rock department at McCarter, nobody seems to know, but in any case, he will appear at the theatre for the first time in six years on Friday, January 19 (8:30) with his Trio.

Joining him will be Gerry Mulligan on saxophone. Regular seats have all been sold and only stage seats remain.

The actual folk rock series of events will open Friday, February 2 at 8 p.m. when Don McLean ("American Pie") appears in Alexander Hall on the University campus.

STAND, FOR BALI

Dancers Coming. Standing room only still remains for the Dancers and Musicians of Bali coming to McCarter Sunday, January 14 at 3 p.m. for the first time in 19 years.

Dancers in Bali are trained from infancy to dance in the public and temple ceremonies that are an integral part of Balinese culture. The gamelan orchestra members are also trained from their earliest years. The troupe coming to McCarter is composed of members of two companies; musicians from the Sebatu Gamelan and the Pliatan dancers.

THIRD PLAY PLANNED

By Hun School. The Hun School Drama Department will present its third production of the year with a Thursday evening performance of "Summertree" by Ron Cowen.

This play enjoyed a lengthy run by the Lincoln Center Repertory Theatre and was the winner of off Broadway's Vernon Rice Award. Concerned with the problems and fears of young people in today's uncertain world, the play is both a joyous expression of the good things in life and a powerful indictment of war and the senseless waste which it can bring.

The action of the play is mostly what happens in the mind of a young man as he surveys his life. Going backward and forward in time with great swiftness, the play follows the young man's relationships with his well-meaning but obtuse father, his loving but possessive mother, his compliant but unsentimental girl friend.

Although the young man seems to be dreaming all of this in his backyard under his friendly summertree, in reality it is a field of battle from which there will be no return.

Director Gregory Gorda has cast Bill Middlebrook, Barry Greene, Tina Comle, Jeff Neideman, Rhonda Click and Bob Albanese in the roles. Performance time is 8 p.m., in the Hun School Auditorium.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S AN ASSORTMENT

At Windsor Antiques, Interdesigner Paul McBride op[ens] at Windsor Antiques and [Lei]sure Just June on Route [130] Hightstown, clos[e] by the Old Yorke Inn.

[Th]e big place will offer the [fi]rst and finest in a gen[er]al line from 17th Century [Fe]deral Ward or Antique [fu]rniture to sketch stippering, reupholstering, custom drap[er]y interior design, furniture stripping and refinishing [an]tique repair and reproduction [fu]rniture repair and the polishing [an]d repair of brass [and] silver.

We're confidently anticipating a number of young people [in] attendance, Mr. McBride told [us].

He has a lot to show them. A red mahogany hand sewed bed, some Limoges and Hav and [ot]her rich late Victorian pat[te]rns, a small table with inlay [in] Art Nouveau manner.

We arranged in crowded [ar]rangements, the furniture, china, silver and what not are quite [fa]scinating glimpses of the [wa]ys of other eras. There [ar]e straight backed chairs in [ab]undance, all manner of [ch]airs including a William and Mary style chair with a low [se]at and sweeping, tall back, with a small crown and garland topping off the elaborate carving. Nearby [is] a rugged desk with an [un]usual pattern of inlay also [fr]om the east, period [fu]rniture, some sturdy kitchen [ch]airs waiting for refinishing.

Windsor Antiques has a fair amount of primitive tools and hardware and a growing collection of clocks. We noted a Chippendale chest with five drawers [an]d behind the double doors, a [sm]all chest, a bureau topped [by] a desk and one Oriental rug.

Down at the far end, we saw sterling and silverplate, including a tea and coffee service in silver plate, a six piece set that's very attractive in Wedgewood, matching [ed]ge cups and plates, there's lots of glassware and to the [ob]vious joy of young silver [ex]pert Carol Lynn in touch [wi]th a second dealer.

Old Glass. Mr. McBride [ha]s bowed to handblown apothecary jars, some dating from 1832. The jars are from the old Philadelphia Museum collection. They are offered [fo]r each sale for one price. The candle are imported by a specialty merchant.

Most unusual item we saw [is] a [co]mplete 3 wall mirror with a [pa]inter and a fountain. It's a [th]ree legged fantasy of brass [an]d copper with an iron hose. The basin for plants is table [hi]gh and in the center is the fountain, with the mirror as [th]e background. Made in [Fr]ance and very ornate.

Windsor Antiques has a [st]riking pair of black lacquer [sc]reens exquisitely overlaid in [iv]ory. The workmanship is [ve]ry delicate, ivory maple [tr]ees in relief dominates one [sc]reen, a flying bird the other. Each panel is about four [an]d a half feet tall and 20 inches wide, with a chop mark in the lower corner.

We also saw a matched pair of picture frames, 37 x 33 in. size, elaborately carved and [gi]lded [wa]s in need of a bit the touch up. There a wine [pr]ess, if you're considering making your own these days. It's a large one and we were told it came from a Princeton basement.

Need a [sw]eet lamp? Windsor Antiques has one that can [us]e gas or electricity ($85). [Re]stored chairs [va]ry, [wi]ndsor wood [ch]airs are $10 to $180, a contemporary chaise longue and a wide desk for executive type [ar]e also [a]vailable. For the [ha]ndy man, like. For the [ha]ndy minded, a pine hutch for

SPORTS 'N THINGS

In Montgomery Center, just after Thanksgiving Day a new shop opened in the Montgomery Center, Route 206 in Rocky Hill. Called Sports 'N Things, it is headed by Jack Sutton, a former banker who has achieved a career turnaround. He was director of marketing with Franklin State Bank and was also with Banker's Trust.

For all that, he's young, a native of East Falmouth (ask him about salt water fishing), a former football player (U. of Georgia) and coach (high school), a golfer and a tennis player (Nassau and Somerset Racquet Clubs). The sports-minded will find him a kindred spirit, and his store a very attractive place to shop.

He told us that he's putting in a bicycle sales and repair shop next door and will include a pick up and delivery service.

Sports 'N Things has sports equipment, including the new Rocket Racer that's designed for snow or water, and a growing supply of sportswear.

For skiers, Ski Skins — a two-layer garment that out-does the old longjohns — in turtle necked tops and pants in such solid colors as orange, blue, lemon or navy and white ($5 and $6); Carl Fix two-piece warmups for jogging or winter tennis.

For the southbound and the indoor tennis player, there are tennis dresses, shirts, skirts, sneakers. The Fred Perry knit shirts, are good for tennis or golf — choice blue, white, yellow or cranberry. Blue soled Converse sneakers and the herringbone - soled Puma sneaks — which incidentally have both an excellent arch support and a special heel padding that helps divert the achilles pull — are both available in men's sizes. Women's and children's sizes are mostly sold out, Mr. Sutton said, but more are due in.

The shop sold 40 pairs of suede Puma sneakers in two weeks, we were told. These are done with gray trim and a waffle sole. Like the pros wear.

Women's sportswear includes White Stag tank suits, and some interesting palazzo pants and tops from CEEH of Mexico. We liked the CEEH polka-weave pants, shorts and coordinate tops in white knit. The skirt has an elasticized waist for easy fit. Figure about $16 for pants. Sun colors are available in pants and shorts — blue, pink, pale green, plus, of course, navy and white.

The bathing suits — boy-look bikinis and one-piecers, with good, but subtle support in the tops. And the tennis dresses and skirts are fun: piqué-like fabrics in little tailored dresses, wrap skirts, and slim dresses with matching shorts. Coming in as the backless tennis dress you may have seen on Joan Kennedy in a recent issue of Life.

For the campers and hikers, two versions of the light tubular steel frame backpacks: Camp Trail's easily-tightened frame in youth or adult sizes ($10.95) and a nylon rucksack that features double pockets on each side as well as on the front ($32.95). And from Japan, a frame and nylon rucksack that's a good buy for the price, $26.69.

Also a mountain tent of nylon, with a rear window in the rear. Easily toted, and equipped with sewn-in floor and screening, it weighs four lbs. ($32.49). Game Bay down bags, for sleeping — to use all year unless the temperature is in the low 30's. Weighs one and a half pounds ($48.59). Other sleeping bags, too.

Among the golf and tennis equipment are the well-known Wilson, Spalding, Bancroft, Slazenger. Tennis customers can find cans of balls at $2.19 in all colors.

Volt, Wilson and Spalding in the basketball, football, soccer ball section, and the sleds are Yankee Clippers and Flexible Flyers. There are some toboggans left, although most went at Christmas time.

Street hockey hasn't caught on here yet, Jack Sutton reminded us, but Sports 'N Things has the Tony Esposito goal cage for the sport and also the hockey stick blades.

And for putting practice on the living room rug, a gadget that returns the ball to you — if you aim right.

Sports 'N Things doesn't exactly have banker's hours; it is open Monday thru Wednesday 10 to 6. Thursday and Friday 10 to 9, Saturdays 10 to 6 and Sundays 11 to 3. The phone is 921-8162.

THE SPORTING LIFE: Jack Sutton has opened a spacious new sports shop in the Montgomery Center, Route 206, and stacked it with sportswear, equipment for archery and also with modelmakers' kits.

STEAM WAY
Steam cleaning is a process of carpet soil removal that sprays hot water into the carpet and simultaneously vacuums it back into a waste tank—taking the soil with it.
WHY STEAM CLEANING?
• Steam-clean carpets stay clean longer.
• No soaping to attract soil.
• No soaking to cause shrinkage or rotting of carpet cushion.
• No scrubbing to wear out fibers or to imbed soil.
• Drying time cut in half (virtually all water vacuumed out of carpet).
• Cleans expensive Oriental rugs, shags, and kitchen carpets.

erously let us stockpile all those cartons in the halls and the girls were so helpful—I can't begin to tell you how marvelous everyone has been."

Mrs. Morales, thank you!

TOPICS: "SCRIMSHAW"

Historical Society Lecture. Scrimshaw, the carving art of the whalemen, will be the subject of the second lecture in the Princeton Historical Society's series of six Tuesday morning lectures.

Barbara Johnson, Princeton resident who is known throughout the world for her collection of whaling memorabilia, will be the speaker. The talk will be given at 10:30 a.m. next Tuesday in the meeting room of the Methodist Church, Vandevender and Nassau. The church is across Vandeventer from the Society's Bainbridge House headquarters. Coffee will be served at 10 at Bainbridge House on the day of the lecture.

Since space is limited, the Society asks that reservations be made. The number to call is 921-6748. A donation of $1 per lecture is requested. Tickets should be obtained before the lecture because none will be available at the door.

Subsequent speakers in the series will be William L. Iorin, R.D. Richey, E. Hunter Ross and Jack Boucher. All lectures are held on Tuesday mornings.

FORT MUST COME DOWN

Zoning Board Rules. The final chapter of the saga of Billy and Fritz and their three-story

SCRIMSHAW: The delicate wholebone carvings made by whaling men to poss the long hours at sea, are a unique bit of Americana. This basket is part of the collection of Barbara Johnson, who will speak on scrimshaw in a Historical Society lecture.

fort, one which reached the pages of the New York Times in considerable depth, was written last week by the Borough Zoning Board. After spending some time wrestling with sentiment versus the strictures of the zoning code, the board ruled that the fort must come down within 45 days.

The youthful builders, Billy Sapoch, 10, 174 Moore Street, and Fritz Karch, 15, 115 Jefferson Road, had more or less expected the board's decision. "They did what they had to do," said Billy. But the two were less understanding about the actions of their neighbors. "We just wish they had come to us and told us what they didn't like about it instead of fighting us like this," stated Fritz. They plan no appeal.

It began last June when the boys, with time on their hands, decided to build something. For material they scrounged waste lumber, old doors — anything they could get their hands on. The structure continued to grow in the backyard at 115 Jefferson Road. Soon it reached three stories. A two-story addition on the side was built. They used it as a place to store garden equipment, shovels and plants and as a place to play.

The boys' problems began when a neighbor told Joseph Shinn, the Township zoning officer about the structure. The Karch home is located in the Township but the fort itself is in the Borough. Mr. Shinn passed the information on to his counterpart, Bernard Glover, the borough building inspector.

Violated Every Requirement. Mr. Glover determined that the fort was considered as an accessory building and subject to zoning restriction. As a structure, it violated virtually every bulk requirement. He told the boys the building was illegal and had to come down. The only way they could keep it, he said, was for them to apply for the necessary zoning variances.

They appeared before the Zoning Board Thursday evening. New board chairman Charles St. John told them that the board was familiar with their problem but for the record they had to hear their story all over again. As Billy and Fritz faced the board, Billy's head just cleared the top of the curved panel behind which the board sat.

They told the board that they intended to keep the fort only for a year or two to play in after school and then tear it down. Yes, they had had candles in the fort at one time for light, but removed them when told it would be a fire hazard. When smoking was mentioned, Billy indignantly replied, "We don't smoke anything!"

The boys admitted they had run an electric line out once to watch television, but said they had never slept in the fort overnight.

Reaction Mixed. Reaction from the neighbors was mixed. Marilyn Steeg, 187 Moore, wrote the board that it was cruel to punish the boys for

A Special Seminar on Alpha Brain Wave Function and E.S.P., . . .

Wednesday, Jan. 17
Thursday, Jan. 18

In June, a national magazine, Newsweek, featured a special article on "Probing the Brain."

In this article discussion was focused on one of the most fantastic breakthroughs in modern psychology, a new science dealing with the conscious control of brain waves —the electrochemical activity of the brain. This new science is called Alphagenics ,and concerns itself with the Alpha Rhythms of the brain. Noted researchers discussed how any individual can learn to function at lower levels, control their brain waves and revealed some of the phenomenal capabilities of man with self-control of his brain waves.

There are four principal brain wave rhythms: the Beta-wave, associated with the outer conscious levels, tensions anxiety, physical activity, etc., the Alpha wave, associated with inner levels of mental activity: tranquility, inspiration, creativity, E.S.P., healing processes, memory learning, daydreaming and other phenomena. Theta-waves, which are related to deeper inner meditation mental control of pain, and finally the Delta-waves, which are found in deep sleep or total unconciousness.

Exploration of this almost unknown continent — the human brain — has been pioneered by a soft-spoken parapsychologist, Joe Silva, of the Institute of Psychorientology, of Laredo, Texas This sincere dedicated scientist has been training people to function at different levels of brain waves for many years. Twenty-six years ago Silva and his associates began their research in Mind Control to see if it was possible to increase a person's I.Q factor. Amazingly, Silva discovered that not only could I.Q be increased but a person trained in this technique could even learn to control certain areas of the Automatic Systems, heart beat, respiration, body temperature, etc. The implications of this breakthrough with regard to health and disease were staggering. With Mind Control Techniques it was found that in many cases people could banish pain, accelerate healing, eliminate insomnia, migraine headaches, as well as untold psychosomatic problems.

As research continued, an amazing discovery was made. Volunteer students were found to be surprisingly sensitive to the feelings and emotional attitudes of others. In other words they became more intuitive. In-depth studies revealed that anyone with a normal brain and sufficient training could develop so-called E.S.P. and clairvoyance. Alpha Brain Wave Functioning actually enables anyone to become a superior human being.

Classes Now In 100 Cities

Six years ago the directors of the Institute of Psychorientology decided they were ready to release their findings to the general public, and offer the M.C. Training Program to everyone interested in developing a better mind.

Over 75,000 graduates — Coast to Coast

Now there is no longer any doubt as to the great value of this astounding method of self improvement.

Techniques have been improved and refined to the point that only a few hours of classroom instruction were all that was required to train a truly effective person.

Learn Specific Techniques

Once you have mastered Alpha Brain Wave Functioning, you have better control over anxiety and tension. You can banish insomnia and eliminate pain — unlearn bad habits such as smoking, overeating, drinking, etc., and create good new ones anytime you desire. Your artistic and learning capacity will increase along with your vitality, energy, and self-confidence. You'll be happier and more successful in both the personal and business aspects of your life. What's more, Alpha Brain Wave techniques will make you able to help your loved ones in dramatic and effective ways regardless of their troubles. In short, you'll be a better student, parent, employee, or employer, became a truly effective problem-solver, a more dynamic person—whatever you'd like to be!

Silva Method of Mind Control

Alpha Brain Wave Functioning literally opens the door to the "Promised Land" — the kingdom within. Through simple, easily learned techniques you can have your heart's desires, become the person you want to be.

Results Guaranteed

It sounds almost too good to be true, yet the facts are that with Silva Mind Control "Almost Nothing Is Too Good To Be True." Learn how to use the key that unlocks the door to your innerconscious mind and release the abundant wealth, power and possibilities within.

Recreation Activities

the Joint Recreation Commission

The Princeton Recreation Department in cooperation with the Littlebrook Parent-Teachers Organization, has initiated a community Program Saturdays at Littlebrook School gym.

The program is designed to offer a community center for unstructured activities. Activities such as elementary gymnastics, basketball, volleyball and ping pong are offered under the guidance of center director Bob Gilbert. According to Mr. Gilbert, the attendance has been good as far as the boys are concerned.

In an effort to get more female participation, the hours have been altered as well as the general philosophy behind the program. Separate times for male and female activities no longer exist. The school gym will be open from 10 to 3 for all interested people in grades 6-12.

Topics Of The Town

their creative efforts. Ralph Shoenstein asked, "What has happened to the spirit of Mark Twain's America? Instead of being saluted, the boys are being censured."

Martha Hartmann, 178 Moore, said she applauded the efforts of the boys and was proud of their initiative in using what materials they could find without spending any money. "To us," she wrote, "it is no eyesore but a joy."

Attorney Coloman Brennan, representing Paul Chesebro, 170 Moore, said that while the fort showed "creativity, resourcefulness and all the qualifications we want in children," it was nonetheless an obvious fire hazard.

"If the variance should be granted, it would be difficult for the board to refuse other kids to build playhouses. They would have as much sentimental right for relief from the board as Billy and Fritz."

The ordinance, he continued, is passed for the benefit of all citizens of the community and whether they like it or not they have to comply with the rights of others in the community. Here we have something that does not.

"We register our opposition — a very reluctant one, believe me — but one that has to be made for the integrity of zoning."

The most sustained criticism came from Herbert Hoeplner, 111 Jefferson, who lives next door. Among his points: it was a fire hazard, it detracted from property values, it blocked a 10-foot easement and it would set a precedent for others.

He pointed out that that trash had been piling up next to his garage and that the fort almost totally blocks an alley next to it. "When I attempt to store things, they have been removed." He added that things which he described as "bordering on vandalism" had taken place since the erection of the fort.

The attorney for the next applicant had begun speaking when Fritz interrupted and made one last ditch remark. "There's been a lot of talk about safety, he said. "There's no way we can be trapped on the third floor. We have a trap door there, and on the second floor, we can go up or down."

Mr. Glover said that a statement of findings would be prepared by the board's attorney to substantiate the board's negative ruling. After that, he said, the boys have 45 days to file an appeal. "We won't enforce anything until then."

Addition Approved. In another application, Charles Cornforth, 71 Westcott Road, was granted a combined side yard variance of six feet and a minimum side yard variance of five feet to permit him to enlarge an existing room on the side of his two and one-half story brick home by 19 feet.

Gund Investment Corporation, owner of the building at 14 Nassau Street, was granted unanimous approval to convert a third floor apartment suite containing 564 square feet from residential to retail use. The space is occupied by Schuster, Inc., which sells rare and antique jewelry and artifacts by appointment only.

James Pietrinferno and D. Don Richards each received favorable recommendations from the Board to Mayor and Council that they be granted use variances.

Mr. Pietrinferno wants to use a portion of a building at 173 Nassau Street as a real estate office. The space — 220 square feet — was formerly occupied by The Whole Earth Center and more recently by a leather goods shop.

Mr. Richards intends to relocate his radio and TV repair business now located on Nassau Street, to the first floor of his home at 70 William Street. The board stipulated, however, that Mr. Richards tear down a small shed he owns on the corner of William and Olden by August 15, when the lease of the present occupant expires.

No Skating Yet

Despite the week's sub-freezing temperatures, Recreation Director Donald Barr said on Tuesday that the ice is not thick enough to permit skating on Lake Carnegie.

He said that the ice was about half of the necessary four inches needed for safe skating. If the cold continues, Mr. Barr predicted there would be skating on the lake in a few days. Last year, there were only three days of safe skating on Lake Carnegie during the entire winter season.

Firemen, Neighbors Thanked.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It has been a month now since our house at 518 Ewing St., was destroyed by fire. We have asked the local newspapers to run this letter because we know of no other way to reach all of the people who helped us in what could have been a major tragedy.

We know now that the fire was caused by faulty wiring in the eaves over the back room. The fire smoldered for some hours before it broke through the ceiling, igniting the whole room at once.

Many of the firemen expressed dismay that they were unable to save so little - actually they saved a great deal, since the fire was out of control almost at once.

As Princeton residents we are proud of the job the firemen did with an impossible situation, and we are grateful to all of them for their efforts, their concerns, and their understanding. Chief Stewart and all his men should be supported by our community to the fullest extent. To all of them we extend our thanks.

To the people who stopped after the fire to offer help, we extend the same thanks. They came with bedding, food, clothing, and words of comfort and solace, and we remember them if not their names.

Our neighbors were truly neighbors, and we can only hope that everyone has neighbors like them.

We put together a Christmas, thanks to everyone's help, that was perhaps a little better than any we've had for years, because all of us were perhaps more aware of what we have, than every before us. Happy New Year and

To all of you who helped Thank you.

Welcome Aboard

by BUNNY STEIN

Why not try a guided tour to Europe? This is an especially good idea if you have never travelled before. It will give you a good idea of what Europe is like without wasting a minute of your valuable, limited time. Breakfast, say, at a Parisian hotel. Then let your guide take you to the sights of the city. Transportation, directions, times, schedules: you can leave all of this in the hands of someone who is both sensitive and competent. Your vacation will be most satisfying.

This is a nice way to vacation. All modes of travel are available at WELCOME ABOARD, 29 Witherspoon St. . . . Europe won't leave you tongue-tied because American visitors have made the country all but bilingual. Not just in Great Britain where English is the mother language but throughout Europe as a whole. And like most visitors, you'll probably feel that going to Europe is much like going home. A matter of shared cultural heritage—it's a lot less "foreign" that most people think . . . Call 921-3350 . . . Open Monday-Thursday 9-5:30 Fridays 9-8 Saturdays 10-2.

SCHOOL BUDGET UP 19%. In West Windsor The West Windsor Plainsboro Regional Board of Education, at its regular monthly meeting held last evening at the Maurice Hawk School approved a tentative budget of $4,569,487 for the 1973-74 school year. This represents an increase of 18.7 per cent or $721,094.50 over the current budget of $3,848,392.50.

Board President Robert Dunn reported that adoption of this time establishes a budget to be sent to the County Superintendent of Schools. The Board also set Monday, January 22, as the date of the public hearing on the budget, and Mr. Duncan indicated that [illegible] might be made in the budget at that time. A final budget must be adopted by the Board no later than [illegible].

The budget reflects a $581,[illegible] increase in current expenses and a decrease of $15,150 in capital outlay. There are [illegible] to budget the [illegible] by the voters.

While the debt service [illegible] of the budget is actually [illegible] year's budget, the amount to be raised by local taxes has increased approximately 70 percent. The [illegible] voted on, since it represents money already approved by the voters in previous bond issues referendums.

This year the Board was able to apply $408,000 in anticipated revenues and reduce the amount to be raised by taxes in that category, as a result of investing funds approved for construction of the high school. Now that the high school is under construction, this money is no longer available for investment. Consequently, the Board is unable to reduce the amount to be raised by taxes under the debt service portion of the budget.

Enrollment up 12 Percent. Among the reasons given for the increase in the budget by Dr. Hudden was an anticipated growth of 11.7 percent in student enrollment. He also indicated that not only were [illegible] all members need [illegible] to develop [illegible] a seventh grade levels, but the [illegible] would need for grades 9 and 10 [illegible].

Dr. Hudden explained to [illegible] costs [illegible] with the opening of the high [illegible] be one time [illegible] which other Boards [illegible] for [illegible].

Mr. Duncan said that in [illegible] the Board did not [illegible] budget to reduce [illegible] because it was aware of these "start up" costs. The seventh Board will apply $280,000 of surplus funds to offset these "start up" costs.

He also indicated that some of the "on going" costs would be covered by funds previously allocated to pay tuition to the Princeton Regional School District in as much as we plan that 9th 9th and 10th grade students will be returning to our high school.

The budget also reflects increased "cost of living" expenses and an 18.1 percent increase in the tuition rate to be paid to the Princeton Regional School District for those students in grades 11 and 12 who will complete their studies at Princeton High School.

Board Candidates. The Board approved February 6 as the date for election of new board members and public approval of the 1973-74 school budget. W. Mark Horvath Board Secretary, reported that John V. [illegible] has filed a petition seeking reelection to the Board as a representative from Plainsboro. The other Board member from Plainsboro, Mr. Philip Rodefeld, is not seeking another term and a petition for his place on the Board has been filed by Mrs. Elfriede D'Attush.

In West Windsor James Bottomley, Jr., David Boshea and Mrs. Dorothea Baer have filed petitions for the seats being vacated by Mr. Walter Myers.

Mr. Donald Rizzo, principal of the Plainsboro School, presented a quarterly report on the activities of his building. He also told the Board that he had received a letter from the renting agent at Princeton Meadows indicating that the development would have very little impact on enrollment at the Plainsboro School during the remainder of this school year.

Course Listing Omitted

In the list of language courses offered by the Princeton Adult School for the winter term, French I was inadvertently omitted. It will be taught by Mrs. Margaret M. Flatow in Room 121 Thursday evening from 8 to 9:55, with a fee of $19.50.

The complete curriculum for the school's next term appears on page 22 and 23 of this issue of TOWN TOPICS. Registration by mail should be made now if possible otherwise in person at the Open House on Thursday, January 18.

TWO ARE FINED

In Criminal Court. Two men were fined last week by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr., in Borough criminal court.

William K. Blackburn, 184 Witherspoon Street, was fined $35 for creating a disturbance while under the influence of alcohol, and Willie E. Chase, of Trenton paid $25 for possession of stolen property.

John Mayer, 7 Leslie Street, received a 15-day suspended jail sentence and was placed on probation for six months for shoplifting five pairs of trousers from the Country Squire on Nassau Street. A second charge of trespassing at the Princeton High School was dismissed.

Purcell Moody of Trenton received a probable cause hearing before Judge Tams and will be processed by the Mercer County Prosecutor's office. He was arrested after his wife, Dolores, signed a complaint charging her husband with threatening her life December 20 on Palmer Square.

MOTHERWELL PAINTINGS

At University Art Museum. Robert Motherwell has been at the vanguard of American art for the past three decades. Although he has been associated with a group of major artists who share common goals and philosophies, his work has always been distinct and his direction individual.

One of Motherwell's greatest artistic strengths has been his ability, in his paintings, to reach out to the viewer, to deliver color and form with great impact and then to draw back, taking the observer's eye into the painting, enabling the viewer to interact intimately with space and tone and to share the dynamic experience of the relationships of the elements in the work.

The strongest feature of this display is that it gives the viewer the ability to see Motherwell think. Several small collections of wash drawings and collage clearly display the artist's thoughtful and inquisitive approach to the dynamic elements of two dimensional art. We are able to share his explorations into the interaction of color, the impact of silhouette and his careful examinations of size, shape and color.

This is also the case with this artist's most recent series of paintings. Inspired by the shapes created by two canvases, one against the other, Motherwell explored the relationship of the two minimal forms to the utmost.

One and one half years were spent creating 190 paintings, all flatly toned rectangles or varying sizes, some of them monumental in scale. Most of these rectangles are embellished by a single upside down outline of a shape similar to a doorway. One of the displayed series is further decorated by a horizontal, linear form.

There is in this latest collection the comfort that this artist continues to think and seek out new relationships, however tedious his explorations, and that, since these paintings are displayed in a teaching museum, there is something to be learned from them.

Tensions Explored. There is certainly a great deal to be learned from studying the collection of collage and wash drawings. The drawings have great merit as an exhibition of how Motherwell explores the tensions created by silhouette and size.

Seemingly random, dark forms are complemented, attacked and thrown off balance by the intrusion of a small shape, an intricate edge or a static segment of a silhouette. Here, perhaps, is a key to how an artist can develop the great dyamic effects with simple forms which are shown in the elegies, also on display.

The colages seem to fall into two groups. One group is static — simple, small pieces of color are essentially enclosed by strongly tinted forms. The other series demonstrates the great movements that can be created by a simple change in silhouette, the intrusion of a small piece of color or simply alteration of the position of one element of an intricate design.

Also included in the show is an illustrated book of aquatints of 25 unbound pages. A La Pintura is a cycle of poems by Rafael Alberti celebrating the art of painting. Motherwell has accompanied the text with a colorful, simplified series of plates which are indicative of his most recent approaches. The style is quite personal, as is the viewers reaction.

The scale of the current Motherwell show is well suited to a teaching museum. It not only displays a historical view of this major artist, but allow an intimate view of many aspects o fthis painter's work. Much of the work might not be seen in a standard gallery or museum display, causing the viewer to be all the poorer, as it is not only the monuments and the aesthetic miracles that contribute to understanding the development of an artist.

At Gallery 100. An assemblage of graphics that Gallery 100 refers to as kitchen art is brightly displayed in front. Realistic intaglio silhouettes of fruit and vegetables by Pamela Sinkler are primed in many different combinations and many different colors for an entertaining display. The effect is light and bright.

A more serious and complex graphic endeavor is revealed in the rear gallery, where intaglio prints by Francisco Copello are being shown. Copello displays technical strength in his strongly-hued, vigorously-shaped works. All the prints are created by the combination of several distinct silhouettes.

Most of them are non-objective forays into texture and color, but, in most of the work on display the hard-edged, powerful forms are combined with simpler shapes that often contain figurative or representational subject matter.

The effect is very strong, the color balances powerful. They are possibly symbolic, but if so, the symbols are obscure.

The Gallery is also displaying a collection of prints and drawings as well as a few paintings by many of the gallery artists.

Two of the plays will be performed at McCarter this spring, and a third will be a new script I am directing at Theatre Intime. Students, therefore, should expect considerable discussion of theatrical practice and audience response. "CARMEN" IS COMING

To McCarter January 23. "Carmen" will be staged at McCarter Theatre on Tuesday, January 23, at 8 p.m., by the Princeton Opera Association. The opera, in English, will be performed as a benefit for the Princeton Medical Center.

Heading the cast, Nancy Jackson, mezzo-soprano, sings the role of the fiery Spanish gypsy, Carmen. Mrs. Jackson sang the roles of Maddalena in the Opera Association's "Rigoletto," Olga Olsen in "Street Scene," and of Madame Flora in Rider College's production of "The Medium."

William Arnholt, who will appear as Don Jose, is from New York, where he has been in more than 50 productions of "Carmen" at schools and universities in the metropolitan area. He has appeared with the Amato Opera Company, in summer stock in Rochester, N. H., and has toured with the Robert Shaw Chorale.

The role of Escamillo, the toreador, will be sung by Clyde Tipton, who is on the music faculty of Rider College. The role of Micaela will be sung by June Tipton. Mrs. Tipton has been seen as Gilda in "Rigoletto" and as Gretel in "Hansel and Gretel."

The musical accompaniment will be provided by a 25 piece orchestra drawn from the Princeton University community. Igor Chicagov, who is in his 11th season with the Princeton Opera Association, will conduct.

Ed Earle is staging the production. Lighting and set under the design of Avery Chenowerth, will employ multiple rear screen projection to create the various moods. The choreographer is Renita D'Ip polito, and the producer is Maurice Harding, with costumes by Pat Harding and props by Rosemary Lanes. The stage managers are Tom O'Neill and Carole Davis.

Tickets may be ordered by calling McCarter Theatre box office, 921-8700.

SECOND CONCERT SET

In Series II. Jean-Pierre Rampal, flutist and the Juilliard Quartet will appear together in the second concert of Series II of the Princeton University Concerts on Monday at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre.

Neither Rampal nor the Juilliard Quartet need an introduction to Princeton audiences. They are well known not only through their recording, but through recitals they have given here over the past few years. However, this will be the first joint appearance they have made in Princeton and it promises to be an evening of outstanding musicianship. They played three concerts in Alice Tully Hall in New York during the 1970-71 season and the critics praised not only their performance but the choice of programs.

In Princeton, their program will be: Mozart: Quartet in D Major, K. 285 (flute, violin, viola, cello); Bach: Sonata in A Minor for solo flute; Wolf: Italian Serenade (Juilliard Quartet); Kuhlau: Quintet in E Minor, Op. 51, No. 2 (flute, violin, 2 violas, cello).

Tickets at $6.50 and $5 are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office. Student tickets at $2 are available at the box office one hour before the concert.

"Land Use Controls to Preserve Open Space and Farm Land" is the theme of a special community meeting to be sponsored by the West Windsor Democratic Club, on Monday, January 29, at 8:30 in the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck. The speaker, B. D. Chavooshian, Acting Chairman, Department of Environmental Resources, Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, has been active in exploring ways of keeping land for farming purposes in New Jersey.

The club invited Mr. Chavooshian to speak because of the interest expressed at the public hearing on the Township's (housing moratorium) ordinance on the continuing use of land for farming.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Of all the sports events ever held in America, which one drew the most requests for tickets? . . . It was the Notre Dame-Army football game of 1946 . . . More than 1-MILLION ticket requests were received for that game to set the all-time record.

Did you ever stop to think that the sport with the strangest name in the world is our sport of football . . . A football is carried and thrown much more often during a game than it is ever kicked . . . On three out of every four plays, on the average, there is no foot applied to the football . . . Football got its name in the last century when it more closely resembled soccer, and even though football changed over the years, its name has not.

Of all the teams in college football history, which one had the most All-Americans on it? . . . You have to go back many years to find the answer . . . The greatest number of All-Americans ever selected from one squad was the Yale team of 1909 . . . Nine of their starting eleven were picked on the All-America!

Familiar Story: Penn-Princeton Game Here Key Factor in Outcome of Ivy League Race

For the fourth year in a row, an early January meeting between Pennsylvania and Princeton in Jadwin Gymnasium will go far to determine the outcome of the Ivy League basketball race. The Tigers must win here to keep any semblance of pressure on the Quakers, who are strong favorites to retain the title they have held for the past three seasons.

Saturday's contest will start at 1 o'clock to accommodate eastern regional television. For those who prefer living room to ringside atmosphere, the game can be seen on Channels 4 and 6.

Three years ago, and again in January 1971, the Orange and Black lost its first meeting here with the Quakers, who went on to a perfect 14 and 0 season. Last winter, Princeton upended the nationally-ranked Philadelphians, 69 to 56, saw the account balanced in the return meeting at the Palestra and then bowed out of a playoff situation by losing at Hanover while Penn went on to post a 13-1 mark.

SPORTS in Princeton

In effect, therefore, the Tigers will be better off than they were last January if they can handle Penn this weekend. They have already erased memories of that 81-79 defeat by Dartmouth with a 75-60 romp over the Green. While it is, of course, entirely possible they may be smothered elsewhere along the road, in winning at Cambridge and Hanover last weekend they have successfully negotiated their toughest two-game road trip of the current schedule.

Quakers Unranked. If Princeton is not the team it would have been with Brian Taylor, Penn, too, is lacking the balanced, occasionally brilliant personnel it enjoyed the past two seasons. Although included in the national rankings before play began—largely on past performances the Red and Blue has since toppled out of the top 20 despite an overall 7-2 record. Losses to Cincinnati and San Francisco during the holidays were responsible for their downward turn in national recognition.

Three characteristics of top Penn teams in recent years are no longer the hallmark of the 1973 team. Although the front line of Craig LaRocque, Phil Hankinson and Ron Haigler has excellent height and marked ability, none of them can quite match the excellence of the departed Bob Morse and Corky Calhoun. The current trio is, nonetheless, distinctly superior to any front three the other Ivies can produce, and to many other good teams in the nation.

It is in the backcourt, where Steve Bilsky and Dave Wohl held forth to such perfection as seniors two years ago and Alan Calder and often Corky Calhoun played last winter that Penn is short of its previous high standards. The third factor serving to bring Penn back with the best of the rest in the Ivy League is a lack of the bench strength it has known the past.

All this is merely to say that Penn is, somewhat unexpectedly, within reach of a Princeton team playing without Brian Taylor in what would have been his senior year. The Quakers are still the favorites, and will be a virtual Shoo-in for their third straight title if they reach mid-January with victories over Harvard and Princeton away from home. Included among their victims is St. Joseph's, winner of the Quaker City Tournament in which Princeton lost two games so quickly it did not even qualify for the consolation round.

Elsewhere among the Ivies, Harvard, with two losses at home, is virtually out of contention after the first week of play, despite the marked ability of its seniors. A year ago, Coach Bob Harrison blamed his team's troubles on the need to open its Ivy schedule against Penn and Princeton on the road. This time, he got to play them at home, and got the same results.

Brown appears to be the best of the rest, although it could not handle Yale at New Haven. Dartmouth, Cornell and Columbia, major factors in Ivy action in the past, have fallen on bad times—all are 0-2 in the race and none of them has won more than twice this season.

TIGERS SHOW BALANCE

With Alternating Personnel. In chalking up a 20-7 record last year, Coach Pete Carril almost invariably started Andy Rymol at center, Captain Al Duffy and John Berger at forward, Brian Taylor and Ted Manakas at guard. The first man off the bench was just as invariably Reggie Bird.

This year, variety has been the spice of life, and of most of the Tigers' six victories. Brian O'Neil, who did not start the first two games, was a major factor in the four-game streak in mid-December. Another sophomore, Tim Van Bloemestuyn, rarely seen in the Jadwin Gym games last month ,came off the bench early against Harvard Friday. There is, obviously, no way to estimate the value of a 16-point contribution to a game your team wins, 71 to 70.

Needing height against Harvard Carril reverted to the lineup that had floundered against Penn State but has since gained in maturity. Berger and sophomore Jim Flores flanked Andy Rimol in the front line. Manakas and Sullivan were in back court.

Van Bloomesteyn and Bill Kapler were the only reserves to see action, and the personnel mix was good enough to take a 42-36 half-time lead at Cambridge where, next night at intermission, Penn was trailing by seven. Early in the second period, the Crimson was down by eight (48-40) but it staged a gradual rally and finally led, 64-63, with just over four minutes to go.

Stall Proves Costly. Down by three shortly thereafter, the Tigers got back on top, 69-68, but with just over a minute to go, Flores fouled all-Ivy Jim Brown who converted both shots to make it 70-69 Harvard. Princeton came down court. Manakas got a pick from Rimol and hit on a jumper from just outside the circle.

There were 51 seconds left when Crimson Coach Bob Harrison ordered a surprising stall with his team a point behind. When the clock got down to :13 seconds, he called a time out, setting up a play that had Brown driving down the lane with four seconds left.

Not only was Brown's shot blocked but he was called for charging into Rimol. Since the Crimson had not reached the limit in team fouls, Princeton took the ball out of bounds and threw it in to run out the clock.

Twenty-three points for Manakas paced both teams as the Crimson put four men into double figures and outshot the visitors at the foul line, 18 to 11. Rimol with 10 points made it into double figures with Manakas and Van Bloomesteyn.

At Hanover next night, the lead changed hands eight times before Princeton moved in front for good at 19-17. After taking a 39-32 lead at the half, the Tigers held the Green scoreless for the first five minutes and were never in trouble as the game wound down.

Princeton shooting of 50 per cent to 31 percent for Dartmouth told much of the story, as did Andy Rimol's 17 points and 17 rebounds for his best performance on both counts this season. Manakas had 16 points and Sullivan 14 as Dartmouth lost is seventh straight.

Following Saturday's game with Penn, the Tigers will play Temple Tuesday night at 8 in Jadwin. The contests will mark a major turning point in the season, if they win both, a shot at the Ivy title or a second straight bid to the NIT are probable. Twin losses will mean likelihood lead to a more ordinary season than Princeton basketball has come to consider agreeable.

SKATERS FACE HARVARD

After Two Ivy Losses, Unable to produce more than three goals in its first two Ivy games, Princeton's struggling hockey team will play Harvard Saturday at Cambridge. The contest will be the last for the Tigers before the term-end examination break. (Story on Tuesday's game with Boston College, page 30.)

Princeton lost to Dartmouth in Baker Rink last Saturday, 2 to 1, as much on the law of averages as anything else. In the low scoring contest, the Green got 41 shots on goal to the home team's 23, and the odds simply dictated that sooner or later, the visitors' ability to put more pucks on target would pay off.

It did -at 13:52 of the final period. The second goal credited to Fred Riggall broke a 1-1 tie and kept the losers anchored in the league cellar. The puck bounced off goalie Phil Robinson's chest, trickled over his shoulder and fell weakly into the goal mouth — a tough break after the many point - blank shots he had blocked earlier.

Defenseman Al Steuver got Princeton out in front at 12:25 of the opening period, beating All-Ivy goalie Peter Proulx with a hard shot from 25 feet out. That was the Tigers' only successful effort, however, and of the 22 saves credited to Proulx, many were strictly routine.

Dartmouth drew even at 8:21 of the second period on a power play, and was generally in charge thereafter. In the tell tale third round, the victors outshot Princeton, 21 to 8.

Brown in Front Quickly. Earlier in the week, Brown had defeated the Orange and Black, 5 to 2, largely on the strength of a 3-0 lead the Bruins enjoyed after the first seven minutes. Princeton's goals were scored by Brad Richards and Corky Powers, the Tigers playing without the services of sophomore center Mark Stuckey following his eye injury.

Princeton picked up only four penalties during the game. Three of them were charged to Steuver, and each time he was off the ice, Brown scored.

The 1973 Ivy race may well have been decided Saturday at Cambridge, where Cornell convincingly defeated Harvard, 5 to 2, despite the fact that the Ithacans had somehow contrived to lose to Boston University and Clakson by a combined score of 19 to 1. Belief was that Cornell was within reach of the Crimson, but the outcome of Saturday's game has given the Ithacans a strong grip on their eighth straight title.

The 1973 Super Beetle is a whole different car inside.

For one thing, there's a lot more inside. We're giving you plenty of legroom up front. And fantastic headroom.

We've also done a nice thing for your nose. Our new windshield is pushed way forward, and curved. It's actually 42% larger.

For comfort, the seats, too, are curved. The same way what you sit on is. And the same way your back is.

Inertia type seatbelts buckle up as standard equipment.

The padded dash is completely redesigned. To be read in a flash.

Getting in and out of the back seat of the Bug is now pretty easy even for non-athletic types.

And we've had some very fresh ideas about air. And how to circulate it. Our remarkable improved ventilation system even defogs the side windows.

All together, the interior of the 1973 Super Beetle is so radically different, you'd have a hard time knowing it was a Beetle, except for the steering wheel insignia.

There remain, however, certain things that will give you the clue that you're driving a VW.

Economy. Dependability. Our good old never-give-up character.

The beauty of the new inside may be its beauty. But the fact that it comes in the car it does, is the most beautiful part of all.

Few things in life work as well as a Volkswagen.

Solid Team Play Basic Factor in PHS Quintet's Strong Showing

An unfamiliar name has been gaining prominence whenever standings of basketball teams in this area are published.

The [illegible] Princeton High School squad (7-2) is tied for first place with Hamilton in the Mercer County League. In the setting of Delaware Valley's top teams, PHS leapfrogged from 14th place to fourth behind Northern Burlington (10-0), Pennsbury (9-1) and Trenton (6-3). The Little Tigers advanced to their lofty perch by virtue of their brilliant 55-48 victory over Steinert Friday and last week's win over St. Anthony's.

Hamilton defeated Ewing by one point and Trenton topped St. Anthony's in weekend activity.

PHS will tangle with Ewing Friday evening at 8 on the Blue Devils' court, and will be host to Cedar Ridge Tuesday for a 3:45 contest. It was scheduled to play Peddie (5-1) this Wednesday afternoon in Hightstown.

If his team gets by Ewing, PHS coach Marvin Trotman said that it "could be very interesting as far as the county race goes." At this point, PHS fears no one. "I like to think with a little luck and if we keep playing the way we are capable of playing, we will be right up there," stated Trotman.

Team Has Following. Th. Steinert win — Steinert was [illegible] season picks to win the county championship — was engineered on the Spartans court "It's always great to win on the road," agreed Trotman, who reported the Little Tigers have in the process attracted a following "It really helps when you hear those cheers in the stands," he continued. "It makes the adrenalin flow."

Followers of the Blue and White saw an action-packed game against Steinert. Before the game was over, hometown fans were throwing objects on the floor and officials were threatening to clear the gym.

The key play came with 42 seconds remaining with the Little Tigers nursing a 51-48 lead. It was made by — and this is no surprise — Tony Bailey.

Pete Larkin of Steinert seemed on the way for a sure layup when Bailey, timing his leap perfectly, jumped and swatted the ball away. Then when Steinert coach Jake Tarr questioned the call, after seeing Larkin crash into the padding behind the basket, he was hit with a technical. Bailey converted. PHS was up by four now and home free.

Tarr was incensed. He accused the officials of choking and blasted them to a degree that may still get him in hot water. Trotman saw it differently. "A fantastic play, a beautiful block," he said.

No Substitutions. Trotman made no substitutions, going all the way with the starting five that has carried PHS all season. They meshed their talents beautifully. It was Leon Robinson's task to keep the Spartans' 6-7 Phil Brand cut off from the play. Brand was shut out completely in the second half and fouled out with 3:09 left. He was held to 12 points.

The Spartans were still taller than PHS under the boards but Trotman praised Larry Miller for his "fantastic play" in rebounding "He was outjumping their 6-5 guy," Trotman said. Miller, reed thin, who walks with a slight hunching gait, looks as if he would have trouble getting off the floor at all.

Sharpshooting Bobby King provided 18 game-high points; Bailey, the team leader who does everything, added 12 and Gil Spencer contributed six clutch points. Miller had 11, Robinson eight

PDS WINS TWO MORE

Bryn Athyn Friday. Undefeated in seven contests, Princeton Day was scheduled to play its toughest opponent to date Wednesday afternoon, when it meets once - beaten Hun School at home.

Although playing away from home, Hun was rated a slight favorite on the basis of its success with a tougher schedule With the exception of one or two opponents, the Panthers have not run up against any formidable opposition so far this season.

After Hun, the Blue and White will play another relatively weak opponent in Bryn Athyn away on Friday, before facing a second stern test in Morristown - Beard School next Wednesday, January 17 away.

A few weak schools remain on the schedule, but it definitely gets tougher from now on with teams like Peddie and Lawrenceville to be played within the next month.

Last week's action gave the Panthers a chance to embellish their season's mark without any undue strain as they whipped Solebury, 66-41, and Moorestown Friends, in a second meeting, 64-41.

While naturally happy with the results so far, coach Alan Taback pointed out that the team has yet "to put two good halves together."

Against Solebury, the Panthers scored well in the first half, getting 38 points, but let down on defense, and Solebury wound up only eight behind at the intermission. In the second half, the Blue and White showed what it could do defensively when it concentrated, and Solebury was held to five points in 14 minutes.

PDS broke it open in the fourth quarter. Mark Ellsworth pumped in 31 and Ron Webster had 18.

Moorestown put up less resistance on Friday, falling behind 12-4 at the first quarter. It cut the margin to six points at the half, as again the Panthers were guilty of some sloppy play Webster and Ellsworth shared scoring honors with 19 apiece.

HUN: BIG WIN, 1ST LOSS

George Here Friday Night. Last week was bittersweet for the Hun School basketball team.

Last Wednesday it defeated Hamilton High School in overtime for its most impressive win of the season — pushing its record to 7-0, only to lose its first on Friday to undefeated Newark Academy. The victory over Hamilton, which edged Ewing High School by one point in its last outing, should eliminate any lingering doubts that Hun has a fine team this year.

So far, Hun has been playing non league opponents. That will end Friday night when George School comes here for a key Penn Jersey League contest, starting at 8. George School posted an impressive win over Pennington School last week.

Hun is the defending champion in its division in the Penn Jersey League.

Next Wednesday, Hun will play at Lawrenceville School in a 2:30 contest. This Wednesday afternoon it was scheduled to meet unbeaten Princeton Day School (7-0) in a game that has drawn a lot of interest.

Aided by Eric Williams' 20 points, Newark Academy made Hun its fifth straight victim without a loss Friday when it defeated the visiting Red and Black, 68-50. For the first time this year Hun failed to place a single player in double figures. Tony Trani and Brent Bystrzycki each had nine points.

"They outrebounded us badly," commented Hun coach Dave Leete "We didn't shoot well but we didn't have the good shots, either. They played their game; we didn't play ours."

They were a really good team," Leete continued. "It would have been tough for us to win playing our best, but we didn't make a game out of it. That's what hurts."

"We Played Great Basketball." "It was a team win. We just played great basketball," said Leete of his team's overtime 81-74 win over Hamilton. It avenged an 81-61 loss last year to the Hornets, who are currently tied with Princeton High School for first place in the Mercer County League.

Biff Hollowell, junior co-captain of the Hun squad, who lives in Hamilton Township, was the stopper. He hit on 11 of 24 shots from the floor to finish with a game-high 24 points. Hollowell grabbed 12 rebounds and it was his driving basket that sent the game into overtime.

"They ran us off the court last year and we knew we just had to win this time," said Hollowell. "Prep school basketball prestige was on the line."

Hollowell received plenty of support from Jim Lynch, 20 points, and Kevin Tylus, 10. Brian Logue, Trani and Bystrzycki each had nine.

Him, as it has all season, refused to buckle under pressure. After taking a 34-27 lead, Hamilton came back to take a two-point edge into the locker room and then increased its margin to 52-44. Hollowell and Logue combined for 10 of the next 12 points, however, to draw Hun even again in a game which was to be tied 18 times.

In the overtime period, foul shooting by Logue, Trani and Tylus and a tap in of a missed free throw by Hollowell made the score 77-71 and Hun had nailed down what Leete described as "one of our greatest victories."

2D TIE FOR MATMEN

PHS vs. Larries Friday. Ties in wrestling are not common. A team can wrestle a couple of seasons without one, yet Princeton High School was involved in its second this season when Lawrence High scored the last nine points to force a 22-22 deadlock. PHS tied Ewing 29-29 in its opening meet.

Coach Tom Murray's squad, presently 1-1-2, will meet Lawrenceville School next at Lavino Field House on Friday afternoon at 3 and then entertain always tough Woodrow Wilson at the PHS gym Wednesday evening at 8. It was scheduled to wrestle Steinert here this Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Lawrence has come a long way since last year when PHS overwhelmed the Cardinals, 46-4. Leading 22-13 with two bouts to go, PHS saw its lead evaporate when Wes McClain lost a 4-2 decision in the 178-pound class and Dave Gayley, PHS heavyweight, was pinned in 2:35 in the match's only fall.

In the three previous matches, PHS had done well. Angelo Arcaro (168 pounds) won a 9-0 decision; Ken DeRemer (157) won 5-0, defeating the same opponent who had beaten him earlier in the Lawrence Christmas Tournament, and Bobby Zinsweister (143) won, 7-5.

The three Holcombe brothers won one of three bouts. Keith (141), weakened by the flu, lost a decision, as did Richard in the 136-pound division. Mike, however, won a 10-2 decision at 115 pounds. Chris Schneeweiss, 130 pounder, enjoyed his most lopsided win of the season — registering a 15-2 superior, four-point win.

The team captain, undefeated Andy Foltiny, won by forfeit at 106 pounds because his opponent was overweight. They wrestled an exhibition match which Foltiny won, 7-0. Dave Robinson, freshman 96-pounder, lost, 7-2, and hard luck continues to pursue Phil Ebersole who lost a 3-2 decision at 123 pounds. A one-point penalty called against him for locking hands cost him the match.

Faced with the situation of being comfortably ahead only to end up with a tie or loss, coach Tom Murray has done some considerable shifting. McClain has been moved up to heavyweight. Jeff Drummond up from the jayvee squad — "a good wrestler, very strong" — will alternate with Arcaro in the 168 and 178 pound divisions. "If the match is close, I'll wrestle Arcaro at 168 and Drummond at 178," reported Murray. "If it's not, Drummond will go at 168."

Schneeweiss has been moved up a weight to 136 and Mike Holcombe elevated from 115 to 123. Tom Severson will now wrestle at 115 pounds.

BASKETBALL PROGRAM

For W. Windsor Boys. The West Windsor Recreation Committee is again sponsoring a boys' basketball program for students in grades five through 12.

The games will be played at the Dutch Neck and Plainsboro School gyms and will run for eight consecutive Saturdays. Every boy who registers will be assigned to a team.

The program is managed and supervised by volunteers from the community under the leadership of Stan Nichols, a member of the West Windsor Recreation Committee. Mr. Nichols will welcome additional volunteers to help supervise the program; he can be contacted at the time of registration.

Registration will be held at the Dutch Neck School gym this Saturday. All participants are asked to wear gym shoes. Fifth and sixth graders will register at 9 a.m.; seventh and eighth graders at 10, and high school students at 11.

Registration blanks will be distributed with the West Windsor - Plainsboro School District monthly flyer. They can also be obtained from Recreation Committee members and Brian Midland, a student at Princeton High School. Registration blanks will also be available at the Dutch Neck School at the time of registration. There is no charge for participating in this program.

PARTY SCHEDULED

For Windsor Little League. The West Windsor Little League will hold a free party night on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Maurice Hawk School. There will be films of baseball action and refreshments will be served by the League's Ladies Auxiliary.

All boys of Little League age (8-12) who live in West Windsor and their families are invited. The 1973 officers of the league will be present to discuss the operation of the League and the 1973 season. There will be an informal question and answer period during the program.

The league is entering its 17th year of chartered operation and now has an enrollment of more than 200 boys. There are 12 organized teams each sponsored by an area business. The teams play a full slate of 15 games during May and June with championship playoff games at the end of the season.

In addition, boys who have had little exposure to the game are welcomed at organized morning at the R. J. Ward Field in Princeton Junction to learn the basic skills of baseball.

This year, there will be openings for field managers and coaches, umpires, score keepers, building and grounds personnel, publicity and public relations people. The Ladies Auxiliary operates the refreshment stand and supports the League in many ways and they are always interested in knowing about women in the Township who would like to participate in their work. Those who would like to know more about any of these openings, should attend the party.

TIGERS LOSE AGAIN

Record Now 2-9. Highly adept at the power play, Boston College used it successfully four times Tuesday night to defeat Princeton's hockey team, 7-3, in Baker Rink. The Tigers contributed frequently to their manpower shortage by incurring a dozen penalties, four of them charged to defenseman Pete McCann.

The highly capable visitors were never headed, taking a 2-0 lead in the first period before Corky Powers jammed the puck through B.C. goalie Neil Higgins' legs for the first Princeton score. It came at 1:11 of round two.

The Eagles stayed in charge, however, despite another Princeton goal near the end of the second period by Clay Kyle. It was 4-2 for B.C. at the end of that round, and the victors added three more in the final period. Wayne Bezan got the Tigers' last tally.

The contest was frequently ill mannered on the part of contestants from both teams, the officials sending players off in pairs on three separate occasions for picking on each other. At one point, five players were serving time simultaneously.

Toward the end of the game, burly Ed Kenty of B.C. and some of the less courteous fans behind the penalty box became embroiled in an altercation. Following a verbal exchange, one of them tried to grab his stick and at least one bottle was broken during a brief scuffle.

3 REMAIN UNBEATEN

In Dillon League. Unbeaten Terrace Club came storming back from a 16-15 halftime score to defeat Quadrangle Club 29-25 in Dillon Basketball league action last Saturday.

Barry Turner scored 15 points for Terrace, but it was the clutch shooting of Mario Mangone and Fred Beck in the second half which made the difference. Johnny Hart again carried the bulk of the Quad offense scoring 10 points.

Cannon Club also remained undefeated by thrashing Blair Hall 28-16. Blair put together a great defensive effort, but couldn't counter with an effective scoring punch.

Darrel Grisham held high scoring Ronnie Ward to 13 points, but at the other end of the court, Jerry Moyer put the lid on Blair's scoring ace, John Roberto. Blair controlled the boards effectively, but couldn't get the ball through the hoop.

In other Junior division action, Tower Club defeated winless Palmer Hall, 37-21 with Keith Phox and Kiernan Esposito scoring 33 of their teams 37 points. Palmer again featured balanced scoring, but couldn't handle the rebound minded Tower team. Cap and Gown recorded their first victory by defeating Cottage Club 22-21 in a thriller.

The difference lay in Jeff Marshall's brilliant rebounding performance. Pierre Mart tallied 10 points for Cap while Robert Mangone countered with the same for Cottage Club.

In the battle of the unbeatens, Cottage Club blistered Cap and Gown 35-19 behind a typically fine performance by Terry McEwen (21 points). Cottage ran up a 18-7 half time lead and was never threatened in the game. Cottage used a fast break effectively, getting good percentage shots.

Ivy Club won its first game in three outings by defeating winless Tower Club 53-44. Tower's rally fell short as they were trailing 31-15 at half time. The second half surge was led by Ken Bullock who led Tower with 21 points. Tower trailed by 44-40 in the fourth quarter, but foul trouble and poor shooting ended the rally.

PDS SKATERS LOSE 3

South Orange Friday. Three losses in six days put the Princeton Day School hockey team at 1-3 for the season as it got set to face off this Wednesday against the Wissahickon Hockey Club in Chestnut Hill, Pa.

The Panthers skaters dropped a 4-2 decision last Wednesday to Seton Hall, lost a rugged 2-0 game to Lawrenceville Saturday night, and couldn't take advantage of the law of averages as they dropped their third in a row Monday to Montclair High School, 6-2.

PDS hadn't played a game since mid-December, when it faced off against Seton Hall. The visitors took advantage of penalties and a couple of fast breaks to wrap up the game in the third period.

Seton Hall opened the scoring, but was tied 1-1 on a goal by Co-Captain Buzz Woodworth in the first period. The visitors scored again in the second stanza, and Co-Captain John Mittnacht tied it up again. The fourth period belonged to the victors, with a pair of goals from two-on-one situations on fast breaks.

The usual heated rivalry with Lawrenceville produced a tight game, with a great performance by PDS goalie John Boyd. Lawrenceville led 1-0 going into the third period, and clinched it midway in the final stanza.

The Panthers played the last half of the Lawrenceville game without defenseman Woodworth's services, due to a fighting penalty dealt out midway in the second period.

In the Montclair game in which the Panthers took 45 shots and the opposition had 10 penalties including two majors, the only scoring PDS could muster was a pair of goals by Mittnacht.

The Panthers will meet the South Orange Hockey Club at 4:30 Friday afternoon.

PHS WINS AGAIN

In Winter Track. The Princeton High School winter track team, coached by Marc Anderson, won its second dual meet in as many tries Saturday when it defeated New Brunswick, 43-34.

Bill Frazier won the mile, Steve Roderick the half-mile, Mike White the high hurdles and co-captain Peter Nichols the two-mile for the Little Tigers. Dou Drury, the other co-captain, captured the 60-yard dash and placed second in the shot with a toss of 46 feet—his best of the season. "That's quite a combination," observed Anderson.

Earlier, PHS defeated South Brunswick, 49-28. Roderick led a PHS sweep of the half-mile with a 2:22 clocking, and Nichols led a sweep of the two-mile. His time: 10:55.0. Drury won the shot, John Woodside the mile.

The Rev. Dr. Proctor is professor of education at the Rutgers University graduate school of education and the senior minister of Abyssinian Baptist Church, New York. He holds the Martin Luther King Memorial Chair at Rutgers.

Dr. Proctor, who studied at Virginia Union University, Crozier Seminary and Boston University, was president of Virginia Union from 1955 to 1960 and headed North Carolina A & T State University from 1960 to 1964. In the five years that followed, he held administrative positions with the Peace Corps in Nigeria and Washington, the National Council of Churches, the Office of Economic Opportunity, the Institute for Services to Education and the University of Wisconsin.

DR. WALKER TO PREACH

In University Chapel. Rev Dr. Wyatt T. Walker, minister of Canaan Baptist Church of Christ, New York City, will preach at the 11 a.m. memorial service for Martin Luther King Jr. this Sunday in Princeton University Chapel. The choir of First Baptist Church, Princeton, will participate in the service.

Dr. Walker is second vice-president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and speical assistant on urban affairs to the Governor of New York. He teaches at Princeton Theological Seminary and has been active politically in Harlem.

A coffee hour in Murray-Dodge Hall follows the service to give members of the congregation an opportunity to meet and talk with Dr. Walker.

"FOR ALL TIME"

At Unitarian Church. Scenes from plays, speeches and poetry will be presented in "For All Time" at 8 p.m. on Monday in the Unitarian Church in a preview of a program on human achievement that will tour the country.

Participants are Frank Giannani, professor of English and American literature at Middle Tennessee State University, who heads the program; art historian Barbara Stanton, actor Joseph Mydell and actress Marilyn Randall.

"We'll be talking about some of the thoughts and questions that have concerned people throughout history," Mr Giannani explains. "We want to translate those ideas into experiences that people can see and react to in their own way."

The audience is invited to remain after the performance for refreshments and discussions with the performers.

For All Time" is the latest of the National Humanities Series, presented by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. Previous programs have been previewed at the Unitarian Church.

The program will be held in the large auditorium of the church. There is no admission charge. The church will welcome donations to its Fund for the Hospital Chaplain.

BULLETIN NOTES

"Sexuality and the Human Community" is the topic of this Sunday's between services dialogue at First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck. The Rev. Dr. Herbert Anderson of Princeton Seminary will be guest preacher at 9 and dialogue leader. The pastor, Rev. James S. Weaver, preaches at 11 a.m. on the topic "Peace Amid the Storm."

Princeton United Methodist Church's Council on Ministries meets on Monday at the home of John and Gail Yates, 33 Robert Road. Mrs. John Johnson will preside.

ARE YOU LOSING MONEY?

You are...if your bank doesn't pay interest on your savings account from day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

Suppose you have $500 in your account at the start of a quarterly interest period. Two weeks later you deposit $200 into your account. Do you know that at many banks your $200 will earn no interest whatsoever during the period, even though it was on deposit for all but two weeks of the quarter?

Nor is this the only way you can lose interest on your savings. Once again, suppose you have $500 in your account when a quarterly interest period begins. Now let's say you withdraw $300 one week before the period ends. At many banks you'll receive interest only on $200—the lowest balance—even though you had $500 on deposit for almost the entire interest period.

This is not the case at New Jersey National Bank. We'll pay interest on every penny you deposit into your savings account. And we'll pay it from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, providing you maintain a minimum balance of $5. We'll also compound your interest every day, which means the interest you earn today starts earning its own interest tomorrow. And our rates are the highest allowed by law.

To find out if your savings will earn more interest at New Jersey National Bank, just bring your passbook to any of our offices. Most banks begin a new interest period* around this time of year. So now is the best time to switch. But do it soon, because you may be losing money every day you delay.

*Banks usually begin a new quarterly interest period on the 1st of January, April, July and October.

Real Estate Happenings

by CHARLES MARTINETTE realtor

If you're buying a new home for the first time, you'll find that to do so requires a certain amount of out-of-the-pocket spending. Many smart families these days take these normal costs into consideration when planning to buy and have planned way ahead in order to pay it all easily. Here's what to plan for: taxes, insurance, closing costs for your loan, professional fees or assessors, etc. Lenders of all sorts vary in their practices for closing costs and other expenses—a little shopping around can be worthwhile, and our experienced staff can most certainly be of help.

It will be the pleasure of those at WALER S. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. in Princeton (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100) to assist you in buying a home. Many current listings offering excellent values.

NELPFUL HINT:
Your broker helps you sell your house by bringing only those to visit who are actually ready to buy.

PRINCETON BOROUGH

A perfect home for retirement. Built in 1955 with excellent materials, plaster walls, etc. in the attractive Cape Cod Style. The bright living room has a fireplace and there is a bedroom and full bath and small dining room and kitchen on the first floor, and two bedrooms and a bath on the second. Later the kitchen was completely remodeled and eating area and a large study with lavatory added. Then another owner added a two car garage with unfinished space above it, and a delightful screen porch off the study. It's very conveniently located on a quiet street. $72,000

ONE MAN'S LOSS CAN BE YOUR GAIN!

An out of town transfer the day he was to move in brings this pretty split level overlooking Stony Brook back on the market. The smallest house in an area of fine homes (smart buyers look for this!) it offers good expansion possibilities on an exceptional western township lot. Or it could be just right for the smaller family now, with its large living room (raised fireplace), panelled game room, 3 bedrooms and 1½ baths. Could be a charmer with your own finishing touches and T.L.C. Available immediately at $58,500

Lots of trees (if they were all in the sketch, you wouldn't see what the house looks like); lots of room (8 rooms and 4 baths, for instance), and lots of peace and quiet (except maybe for your own children!) in a quiet special part of the Western Township — that's the nitty gritty of this house. Approximately 4200 square feet of living space, particularly well laid out for a three generation family, includes large living room, panelled study and family room, separate dining room, eat-in kitchen, two fireplaces, and all plaster or panelled walls. Lots of house Offered at $135,000

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm.

According to the American Medical Association, every occupied room in your house, bathrooms included, should have at least one window providing the greatest possible illumination. These windows should light the rooms without glare or shadow. Direct sunlight is often advantageous, especially in winter and particularly for the ill and infirm. It is physically and psychologically stimulating; and if properly admitted, it is also a fuel saver. In addition make sure you have proper artificial lighting for close work!

Health and beauty aids are among the many things that await you when you shop at THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon. We sell or rent a complete selection of hospital and convalescent aids including crutches, walkers, wheel chairs, canes, hospital beds and supports. Phone 921-7287.
